SELF-LEADERSHIP

Self-Leadership
is having a developed sense of who you are,
what you can do, where you are going, coupled with the ability to influence your communication, e motions and behaviour on the way to getting there

Bryant & Kazan

SELF-LEADERSHIP

SELF-AWARENESS

Internal - knowing your intentions and values, as well as knowing what can push your buttons and derail you. External – knowing your impact on others and how they perceive you.

SELF-DISCIPLINE

Our ability to have a strong personal will, self-regulate and manage our mental and emotional state. Being responsible for our thoughts, emotions, behaviors, and actions.

SELF-CONFIDENCE

Knowing your strengths and abilities.
As we take actions and develop skills, we become more confident.

SELF-COMPASSION

Most of us approach change with self-criticism, which ensures we never change. When we have compassion for ourselves, we can learn about ourselves with understanding, kindness, and self-acceptance.

The STAR Formula

S

Situation

Provide context:
What was the situation?

T

Task

Set up the problem:
What was the task that you were required to do? What was the problem that you were required to solve?

A

Action

What YOU DID and HOW DID YOU DID it?
What kind of action did you take?

R

Result

Positive outcome:
What was the outcome?

EXAMPLE: STAR RESPONSE

Situation:

While volunteering at XYZ Community Charity last summer, I was responsible for managing various events.

Task:

I noticed that attendance at these events had dropped by 30% over the past 3 years and wanted to do something to improve these numbers.

Action:

I designed a new promotional packet to go out to the local community businesses. I also included a rating sheet to collect feedback on our events and organized internal round table discussions to raise awareness of the issue with our employees.

Result:

We utilized some of the wonderful ideas we received from the community, made our internal systems more efficient and visible and raised attendance by 18% the first year.

STAR Interview Exercise

S — Situation

Provide context: What was the situation? Who was involved? Why was it important?

T — Task

Set up the problem: What was the task you were required to do? What was the problem you needed to solve?

A — Action

Describe what YOU did and HOW you did it. What steps did you take? What skills or strategies did you use?

R — Result

State the positive outcome: What was the result? What did you learn? How did it benefit others or the organization?

Reflection and Practice:

Summarize your STAR story into a 90-second response. Practice delivering it aloud with confidence, clarity, and authenticity.

HOW TO COMMAND AND WORK A ROOM

THE BIG QUESTION

From this session, what would make you happiest when it comes to networking?

Is there one big challenge you want to solve that would really make a difference for you?

“If I could...

I would feel really good. It would boost my confidence and be a step in the right direction.”

THE VALUE OF A NETWORK

3 KEY CONCEPTS

- 1. High network awareness
- 2. Positive networking
- 3. Permission to network

ASSESS AND BUILD YOUR NETWORK

“Virtue in obscurity is rewarded only in heaven. To succeed in this world, you have to be known to people.”

Sonia Sotomayor – American Supreme Court Justice

Operational:

Those in your academic or industry

Personal:

Those who help with your personal development (from professional associations, clubs, alumni groups, etc...)

Strategic:

Those outside your area of expertise; they give you different viewpoints or ideas and challenge your thinking

INTRODUCING YOURSELF & OTHERS

INTRODUCING YOURSELF

EXERCISE: INTRODUCING YOURSELF

- Brief and relevant to where you are and who you are with.
- What do you want people to know about you?

BUSINESS INTRODUCTION PROTOCOL

Persons of LESSER authority are introduced to persons of GREATER authority.

REMEMBERING NAMES

“just kidding,
of course I know

TIP: BMW

Salt and/or pepper: They should be passed together, even when only one is requested. Don't season food before tasting it.

Stemware (glasses): Glassware is limited to four (as shown). Wine is poured from the right. Don't overfill glasses.

Place card: Never switch or change seating arrangements already planned by host.

Dessert spoon and fork: When dessert is served with both fork and spoon, the fork is the pusher and the spoon is used for eating.

Bread dish and butter knife: Tear bread into bite-size pieces on the bread plate and butter each piece with butter knife just before you eat it.

Cutlery: The rule is to use it from the outside in. Once a utensil has been used, it should not touch the table again.

Salad fork Fish fork Meat fork

Napkin placement: Once seated, the host takes his napkin, then guests follow and place onto them on their laps.

Flatware: The number of silverware pieces indicates number of courses to be served. A formal dinner consists of seven courses, in this order: soup, fish, sorbet (or palate cleanser), a meat or fowl dish, salad, dessert and coffee.
